

Discover what community health workers can do for you

eocco
EASTERN OREGON
COORDINATED CARE
ORGANIZATION

Community health workers (CHWs) are people who understand your community and can help you get the care you need. When you work with a CHW, they will listen to your health needs, give you advice, and connect you with community services.

If you are an EOCCO member, you can work with a community health worker at no cost to you. Here's what CHWs can help you with:

- Health education
- Finding healthcare
- Supporting your rights
- Group and one-on-one support
- Organizing your care
- Making referrals
- Assessing social needs

These services are available in your language and can support your cultural needs.

How to connect with a CHW

To work with a CHW, you can ask your doctor to help you, or you can find one using EOCCO's provider search tool. Here's how:

1. Visit eocco.com/eocco-provider-search/
2. Enter your member ID or search as a guest
3. Select "Medical" as the type of care
4. Choose "Community Health Worker" as the specialty
5. Enter your city or zip code
6. Click "Search"
